

ABSTRACT

An electrical circuit containing a substrate having thereon a receptive layer, wherein the receptive layer has a conductive polymer impregnated in the receptive layer, and a method for forming the electrical circuit.